Wisdom of the Saints

Extracts from Love, Peace, and Joy: A Month of the Sacred Heart According to St. Gertrude (1911):

On one occasion Jesus, holding His Heart in His hands, presented it to St. Gertrude, saying: "Behold My most loving Heart, the harmonious instrument whose tones enrapture the Holy Trinity; I give it to you, and as a faithful and ready servant, it will be at your command to supply for your weaknesses. Make use of My Heart, and your works will be pleasing to the sight and the ear of God." Gertrude hesitated to do this. Jesus, however, overcame her fears, and, enlightening her humility more fully, said to her: "A man has to sing before a distinguished audience, but his voice is shrill and false. He can scarcely produce any sounds which do not grate on the ear. But you are near him; you have (we will suppose) a well-trained, clear, and brilliant voice; you can either give him your voice or sing in his place. You desire to do so, and he knows your desire. Would you not feel indignant with him were he to refuse his consent to your proposal? In like manner I know your neediness, and My Heart can supply for it. It wishes to do so most earnestly, for it would find therein a real joy. All that it asks is that you trust all to its care, if not by word, at least by some sign of your goodwill."

Gertrude also appropriated to herself the merits of the Saints. One day, before Communion, finding herself but little prepared, she asked the Blessed Virgin and all the Saints to offer to God for her all the good dispositions with which they had prepared to receive His graces. She also besought Our Lord to offer for her His own perfect dispositions, when, on the day of His Ascension, He was about to appear before His Father. Then, some time after, as she tried to discover what she had gained by this prayer, Jesus said to her: "You have attained to appearing in the eyes of the citizens of Heaven, adorned with all the merits you asked for." Then He added: "Why should you distrust Me, Who am the Lord Almighty and generous? Cannot I act like an earthly friend who adorns his friend with his own ornaments, in order that he may appear as richly attired as himself?"
